NATIONAL WOMAN'S PARTY ORGANIZED

At a meeting held at Odd Fellows hall this afternoon a Nye county branch of the National Woman's party was formed. Mrs. Isadora Horton presided and introduced the speakers, Miss Alice Henkle, of Chicago, who is the Nevada organizer of the Woman's party, and Miss Mabel Vernon, the national secretary of the party. Miss Vernon said this morning upon her arrival in Tonopah that the National Woman's party has but one object, the enfranchisement of women by means of an amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

At present the party is bringing all possible pressure to bear upon President Wilson and the leaders of the Democratic party to procure the passage of the suffrage amendment by Congress before it adjourns. The Democratic party, said Miss Vernon, has the power to bring this about because it has a majority in Senate and House. If the Democrats fail to do this Miss Vernon declared that the Woman's party, in the coming election, must oppose the Democratic candidate for president and Democratic candidates for Congress in the states where women vote.

Miss Vernon has established residence in Nevada and will vote here this fall.

BRINGING HOME THE BACKSLIDERS

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, August 25.—Active work to bring all Progressives in the western states back into the Republican ranks to aid in the election of Hughes and Fairbanks was begun today by Harold L. Ickes, of Illinois, who is in charge of the work of organizing the Progressive vote at western Republican national campaign headquarters. Within a week Progressive leaders in every state between Ohio and the Pacific coast will be asked to make a detailed report on local conditions. Where sharp differences of opinion are found to exist between Republican leaders and Progressives because of the dissemination of the past, efforts toward practical consolidation will be made. The plan is to send influential Progressives into these states to act as mediators and bring the factions together. Another step planned is to send well known Progressive speakers into every district where a large vote was cast for Roosevelt in 1912.

NEARS BREAKING POINT

cannot be conceded is apparently growing. It was said the presidents are standing more closely than ever for arbitration than at any time since the men assembled. It is indicated that the executives are preparing an answer for the president insisting on arbitration.

The special committee's plan, drafted after a week's consideration, would provide for granting an eight hour "basic" day to the trainmen, but with assurance that every effort would be made by the administration to secure a freight rate increase to recompense the roads, and further assurance that Congress would be asked to enact legislation to insure settlement of future labor disputes through an investigation commission.

It was argued by some that there can be no assurance of a rate increase because no one could say what the Interstate Commerce commission might do; and that some of the most important parts of the country have already made it plain that they are not in sympathy with any move which may mean a rate increase. It was pointed out also that although President Wilson has expressed his belief that such a rate increase should be granted if the eight hour day is given the employees, no one can tell how the next election is coming out and that there can be no possibility of an increase before next March or probably later.

The principal arguments against the idea of a permanent commission for the prevention or settlement of strikes were that it would almost certainly be fought by labor in Congress, and that while President Wilson might be entirely willing now to back such legislation, he might not be in a position to do so when it was proposed.

The special committee's plan has been tentatively accepted by the committee of eight. The railroad presidents are understood not to be insistent upon the committee idea for the settlement of future disputes, and the main difficulty has been the working out of operating plans under an eight hour day and of giving assurances to the presidents and managers that they can count upon a freight rate increase. Presidents and managers agree that the operation problem presented is one of the most complicated they have ever undertaken. There seems to be a general opinion that the eight hour day must be granted, but roads which are now operating only on narrow margin of profit or on which the physical difficulties are unusual are the serious problems to be overcome. The effort has been to include in the eight hour day concession solutions of some of the other questions, such as overtime pay, etc., which might make it less expensive to the railroads.

It has become known that in their conferences with President Wilson the executives pointed out that since it was his view that the eight hour day is approved by society, it eventually must be extended to other railroad employees and to those in other lines of endeavor. An estimate of the ultimate cost was given to the president.

President Wilson is said to have taken the position that the freight rate increase will be forthcoming because the weight of public opinion will back the eight hour day and will also back any plan to give the directors the revenue to provide for the added expense.

Mr. Albrit said if the eight hour day is adopted and the present standard run for a day of 100 miles is retained it will mean an increase for engineers on his road from a minimum of $5.25 per day to $7.18 per day.

It is known that if the railroad heads insist upon the formation of a federal commission for the investigation of labor differences before a strike is called, as reports have it they will, vigorous opposition will be voiced by many members of the brotherhoods.

Fear of embarrassing the president as well as injuring their own cause today quieted the "insurgent" brotherhood element, who for a time threatened to disrupt the calm daily meetings of the presidents with their demands for action. The leaders had pointed out to the insurgents that thus far in the negotiations the weight of the president's support has been with them and that to make any move would embarrass him in his negotiations and would be extremely unwise, at least. Further more, word came from the railroad headquarters that the managers and presidents heard with unconcealed satisfaction that some of the employees were clamoring for an immediate strike. Only by remaining calm and exercising patience at such a delicate stage of the negotiations, the men were told, could the support of the share of the public now in sympathy with them be maintained.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

The big feature at the Butler this evening is a five reel production entitled "Ambition," a story of political intrigue, featuring the internationally famous dramatic star, Madam Bertha Kalich. The story of her film experience in "Ambition" is one which every American man and woman should see, for it is the epitome of the pitfalls of American present day existence, love of money for what it will buy and of fame for what it brings in so called high society. "Ambition" is a photodrama of such vital and purely American theme that the great Kalich, with all her European culture but sympathy with the new world of her adoption, fits her part perfectly as the wife, unwillingly scheming, of an ambitious politician. The athletic feature tonight will include Jimm Clabby and Joe Welling in a boxing contest; William Demetral and Wm. Berne in a wrestling contest; Joe Concannon and Cowboy Weston in billiards, and Molla Bjurstedt and May Sutton Bundy in tennis. All the world's greatest athletes and champions are seen in actual contests in this athletic feature every Friday.

FRANK J. CAVANAUGH, Mrs. S. W. Hodson and Ralph Cox left this morning for Goldfield, where they will be joined by Mrs. W. W. Jelinek, continuing their journey tomorrow morning for Los Angeles. Frank Cavanaugh will join his family in San Diego and return early in September.
